

JOE SCARBOROUGH

Former Florida Congressman and
Host of MSNBC's Morning Joe

Elected to Congress in 1994 as a Contract with America revolutionary, Joe Scarborough spent six years representing the Florida panhandle as a conservative. As a previous host of MSNBC's Scarborough Country and now current host of Morning Joe, he offers equally skewering analysis of both parties and their "leadership." His 2004 book Rome Wasn't Burnt in a Day reveals that government spending continues to rise because it is in the best interest of cozy politicians and lobbyists - regardless of which party is in power. Scarborough is sure to offer his informed insight, candor, and humor for the upcoming Presidential Election so please join in the fun.

37TH ANNUAL TIGER AT BAY

JOE SCARBOROUGH
THURSDAY, OCTOBER 30, 2008
TALLAHASSEE-LEON COUNTY CIVIC CENTER

Former Florida Congressman Joe Scarborough is the current host of Morning Joe, a daily political newscast on MSNBC. Prior to this gig, he hosted Scarborough Country on the same network and continues to provide on-air political commentary for the network, as well as CNBC and NBC's

Today Show. In 1994, Scarborough won Florida's

First Congressional District becoming the first Republican elected in Florida's First District since 1872, and signed the famous (or infamous depending on your point of view) Contract with America which ushered Newt Gingrich into the position of U.S. House Speaker. He is quoted as saying his "visceral dislike" of the newly elected Bill Clinton inspired him to run for the U.S. House of Representatives.

After being re-elected in three landslide victories, Scarborough has spent the past 8 years skewering both parties and offering his extremely candid and humorous critique of politicians and their actions. In a recent live, on-air interview he quipped, "My party loathes me much more than your party, the Democratic Party, loathes me." In 2004, Scarborough published the critically acclaimed Rome Wasn't Burnt in a Day: The Real Deal on How Politicians, Bureaucrats, and Other Washington Barbarians are Bankrupting America, which gives an insider's view of what goes on behind closed doors in Washington, and how that contributes to reckless federal spending. As a testament to his equal disdain for leadership in both parties, he offered the following commentary, "after six years of Republican recklessness at home and abroad, I seriously doubt House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, Senate President Harry Reid, or the aforementioned Bourbon Street hookers could spend this country any deeper into debt than my Republican Party."

On the night of the 37th Annual Tiger At Bay, there will only be five days left until one of the most important and historical Presidential elections of our nation. Please join all of your Tiger Bay faithful when Morning Joe Scarborough offers his candid insight and humor on what the prospects of this election hold for our nation.
